Harmony. It is a beautiful and blessed work we live in. The flowers blossom in bedience to the same law that keep the stars in their places. Each bird song is an eche of the universal har ony. It is humanity which thrusts discords, and false and jarring notes i ito the days. We go out into the beautiful morning carrying our uscless loads of frets and worries, our leftover resentments and our faithle fears. The sunshine assures us that the world is still moving safely in its ap pointed course and God has not for gotten us; the birds lift their cheerit notes of rejoicing that they have foun food for the day, but we lift complain ing voices because we have not found provisions for years to come. Our woody spirits and jarring temper burt the love on earth and in heaven.
